atelier nature

The booth is set up with a black metal frame. A large graphic on the left shows a hand holding a smartphone displaying a map. To the right is a counter made from a wooden barrel with 'atelier nature' written on it. A woman is seated at the counter, and a man is standing next to her. In the foreground, there is a wooden rack filled with brochures. The background wall has several panels with icons and text related to outdoor activities and digital tools. The floor is covered with green artificial grass, and the surrounding area is a red carpet.
